Dear Frankfort Resident:

In 2012, the Village of Frankfort joined a consortium of other Will County communities to create an "electric aggregation" program that resulted in substantially lower electric rates for Frankfort residents. Under aggregation, ComEd remained the primary electric service provider while new state laws allowed marketplace competition for supply charges (supply charges account for more than 50% of electric bill). Since 2014, the consortium contracted with Homefield Energy to supply electricity to our local residential and small commercial customers. During the term of this service, the electric billing changed slightly to reflect the "Homefield" name under the "supply" section of the bill. ComEd remained the billing agent (see sample ComEd bill on back side of this letter).

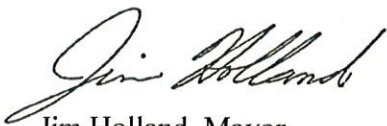

Recently, ComEd published their rate structure for the coming year. The first phase runs from June to October, at a rate of $.06195 per kilowatt hour (KWh). The second phase runs from November until May of 2017 at a rate of $.06315 per KWh. Both rates are lower than the $.06996 per KWh that you are currently paying to Homefield.

We have enjoyed the benefit of a lower Homefield rate for nearly two years. The rate now offered by ComEd provides an even better opportunity. It is therefore my recommendation that you switch back to ComEd for your electric supply services.

The switching process is simple to complete. It requires that you call Homefield Energy at (866) 694-1262, provide them with your ComEd account number, and instruct them to switch your electric supply service to ComEd (or any other vendor of your choice). Based upon the terms of the supply contract, you have the right to change supply vendors without a termination fee.

If you have any further questions about the Electric Aggregation Program, please call the Will County Governmental League, who manage the program on behalf of the Village at (815) 729-3535 or you can call Mary Canino at the Village of Frankfort at (815) 469-2177.
